Our Hand, or Our Fist, For Lenine?

General Foch's first thought in the face of Hungary's surrender to Lenine seems to have been to meet the challenge with the sword, build an allied barrier against Bolshevism from the Baltic to the Black Sea and, in the words of Gen. Malleterre "finish the job by a thunder-stroke." President Wilson and Lloyd George, on the other hand, seem to have taken the position that military measures, however effective against the Bolshevik armies, would prove worse than useless against Bolshevism itself which might break out with increased strength in the rear of an allied military cordon.

There is much divergent opinion on the propososal to recognize Lenine which the Washington Post characterizes as "one of the most sinister developments of these strange times" adding that the American people "are at war with Bolshevism and will not compromise with the enemy for any reason whatever."
